VERY BUSY MAN

Pope Pius X. Continues to Receive Many in Private Audience.

Exhibits a Vast Knowledge of Affairs in Various Countries.

Simplicity and Modesty Are the Salient Traits of the New Pontiff.

GIVES HIS MONEY TO THE POOR

Pope Pius X. is daily giving new evidence of his greatness, as a scholar, as a diplomat, of his love for the poor and the lowly and of his devotion to matters spiritual. Not a day passes that he does not receive one or more distinguished prelates and statesmen in private audience, besides attending to the multifarious duties entailed on him as visible head of the Church of Christ.

In receiving Sir Thomas Gratton Esmond as representative of the Irish National party, he showed a minute knowledge and a keen interest in Irish affairs. In his private audience with Cardinal Gibbons the Pope expressed his pleasure at the growth and spirit of the church in the United States, showing a knowledge of American affairs far beyond the ordinary. To Archbishop Hart, of Manila, and Bishop Hendrick, of Cebu, Pius X. displayed his knowledge of affairs in the Philippines and the needs of that country both temporally and spiritually.

Pius X. is a very plain man. His room in the patriarchal palace in Venice contained but one ornament—a picture of his venerable mother, long since dead. He was fond of taking long walks in the country and of climbing hills and mountains. Now his walks will be confined to the Vatican gardens. As Cardinal Sarto he loved the sea and the canals of Venice. Doubtless he will never see these beloved canals again. As he says of himself: "My jailers (meaning the Cardinals) imprisoned me here and have gone away and left me."

The new Pope is an accomplished musician and is fond of playing the piano. He has a rich baritone voice and his singing of the mass is exquisite. In private the Pope likes a good cigar, but following the custom of all Italian priests never smokes in public. Although his income as Patriarch of Venice was large, Cardinal Sarto was always poor. He did not spend the money, but gave it away to the poor and the distressed. A profound scholar, he makes no display of his learning. Simplicity and modesty are his most striking characteristics.

The excellent portrait on our first page is copied from one of the latest photographs of Pius X., taken as Cardinal Sarto and shortly before his elevation to the Papacy.

POLICE NINES

To Battle For the Championship in the Near Future.

What promises to be one of the most interesting events of the season will be a ball game between the policemen of the Second and Third districts against the policemen of the Sixth district. John Fossee, captain of the Second and Third districts, recently issued a challenge to Dave Burke, captain of the Sixth district. The challenge was accepted. The game will be pulled off at Eclipse Park as soon as the park can be secured.

If his Honor Mayor Grainger reaches home in time he will be asked to umpire the game. If not, Capt. Clymer will be asked to umpire, provided he is well enough.

PRINTER'S DEATH

Brings Forth a Deserved Tribute to Members of Typographical Union.

The recent death at Buffalo, N. Y., of James Crawford, well known in Louisville, where for years he was a member of Typographical Union No. 10, causes the Catholic Union and Times to pay a well deserved tribute to members of the International Typographical Union. Here is what the editor says:

"There is a side to trade unionism that the outside world rarely sees. An instance of this tender, loving sympathy—that is never paraded before the public—accidentally came to my knowledge one day last week. James Crawford—an old-time printer, one of the once great army that is rapidly dwindling away since its place has been taken by the linotype and other labor-saving machinery—came to the hour when his 'tick' had been filed for the last time, his last 'form' was 'made ready for press' and the Death Angel had called 'thirty' on the work. 'Jim'—he was called—was born in Kentucky, the country over which he had done before him. He 'made' Buffalo for the last time not long ago, and here the fatal pneumonia overtook him. He was far away from home and kindred, but not from friends, for these he found in abundance in the members of Buffalo Typographical Union No. 9. ('Jim' was a union man and his 'card' always showed him to be in 'good standing.' No matter how great the storm of adversity that followed him he managed that.) I have not been able to learn where the seed was sown that brought it about, but no matter—the fact itself is sufficient, for it is a fact that in his last earthly hours the spark of divine grace illumined the soul of this poor old wanderer and he received the inestimable happiness of baptism in God's church a day or two before his death. When his illness became serious Mr. Crawford's fellow-members of No. 9 had him taken to the Sisters of Charity Hospital and they ministered to his every need until the end came last Thursday. His was a beautiful example of Christian death, and there were no dry eyes among the white-capped angels of peace who assisted the flight of his soul to the presence of the great Foreman, who looks with loving kindness on the least of His children. At the funeral service in St. Joseph's Cathedral on Sunday only members of No. 9 were present. Some of them formed a guard of honor around the body of their comrade, while others bore it to its last earthly resting place in Holy Cross cemetery and gently lowered it into the consecrated earth. On Tuesday morning solemn requiem mass—a testimonial of affection from his fellow-craftsmen—was celebrated at the Cathedral—and thus closed the sad little drama of which 'Jim' Crawford was the central figure. I doff my hat to No. 9 and commend it for the spirit of fraternity thus so beautifully exemplified."

MASONIC THEATER.

Rosabel Morrison has at last secured a play which gives her a chance to display her many and varied talents. For years she was a joint star with her father, Lewis Morrison, in "Faust," then she made a hit in "Carmen," but all last winter she was in New York arranging to get a proper vehicle in which to star. That she has succeeded is proven by the success of "A Deserted Bride." It fits her closely and gives her unusual opportunities to show her force as an actress. The plot of the play is a strong one, the situations are new and novel, and the comedy element has been introduced without sacrificing any of the good points of the story. It is a play that interests every mother, every young girl, and at the same time it is of sufficient strength to appeal to the theatre-goer who likes a little sensation mixed in his theatrical bill of fare. The play has been handsomely mounted, all of the sets having been built especially for the production from sketches taken where the action of the play transpires. It will appear at the Masonic Theater next week.

the Buckingham Theater. Among the stars in the olio will be the Empire comedy four, Evans, Cunningham, Jenny and Zinell; Washburn and Flynn, Keneey and Evans, Mademoiselle La Toska, Russell and O'Neil, Mademoiselle Tyrene and the circus pony ballet under the direction of Mademoiselle Herman. The usual matinees will be given during the week.

FAVORABLE

Comment Excited In All Parts of the City Over Popularity Contest.

Magnanimous Offer of the Kentucky Irish American Meets Approval.

Get In Your Ballots Early and See Where You Stand.

CONTESTANT'S NAMES NEXT WEEK

The grand popularity prize contest of the Kentucky Irish American continues to excite favorable comment in all parts of the city. The list of those who desire to take advantage of the offer of the Kentucky Irish American continues to grow in number and many of the contestants are sending in comfortable rolls of ballots. From present indications the married couples are taking as much interest in the race as the single people, and well they may, for the successful married couple will receive double the benefit that the single lady or gentleman will receive.

Consider this magnanimous offer—a trip to the great Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis, with transportation and a week's hotel bill at the Lindell for the most popular married couple, the most popular single lady and the most popular single gentleman. Neither creed nor nationality is barred in this race, and the sooner you start to send in your ballots the better chance you have to win. Remember the test of popularity is the number of ballots you send in. With each new subscriber who pays $1 in advance you get fifty votes, beside the ballots cut out each week from now until the contest closes in July, 1904.

Next week the list of the contestants and their respective standing will be published in the Kentucky Irish American. Now is the time to get your ballots together and forward them to this office not later than Wednesday morning. Ballots not in at that time will not be counted until the following week.

The St. Louis World's Fair promises to be the greatest exposition ever held and is attracting attention in every civilized country in the world. With a little exertion on your part and a little hustling on the part of your friends you can see this great attraction free of cost to yourself.

Receipt blanks have been prepared and can be gotten from this office by those who are desirous of entering the contest. Call and get your blanks and have your friends hustle for you. Those who are interested in their friends will find that the blanks will aid materially in securing votes for their favorite candidates.

GOOD PROGRESS

Is Being Made In Arranging For Dramatic Entertainment.

The Entertainment Committee of the Catholic Knights of America met in the office of Attorney Newton G. Rogers last Saturday night and heard reports of the sub-committees that are arranging for the dramatic and musical entertainment to be given on October 12. Those present were Messrs. Joseph P. McGinn, Newton G. Rogers, Michael Reichert, Ben Speaker, John J. Score, John Schalda, H. G. Seibert, J. Goby, P. Reising and Al F. Martin.

John Schalda reported that the Very Rev. Father Westerman had kindly consented to allow the use of St. Mary's school hall for the entertainment. The report was received with thanks and the committee was instructed to invite Father Westerman to deliver an address on the evening of the entertainment. It was also determined to have a neat programme, each member of the committee to secure advertisements for it. President Michael Reichert announced his willingness to get up a hanger and his offer was accepted with thanks.

The committee decided to visit each branch of the Catholic Knights of America affiliating with the Central Committee and invite them to take $5 worth of tickets. Thus far 295 tickets have been disposed of.

NEW BISHOPS

Consecrated in Rome Last Sunday by Cardinal Satoli.

The Right Rev. Thomas A. Hendrick, of Rochester, N. Y., was consecrated Bishop of Cebu, Philippine Islands, in the Church of the Franciscan Missionary Nuns in Rome last Sunday. Cardinal Satoli officiated and was assisted by the Most Rev. Archbishop Hart, of Manila. At the same function Cardinal Satoli consecrated Monsignor Cavallari as titular Bishop of Philadelphia, Asia Minor, who will act as pro-vicar of Venice. Pius X. will retain the patriarchate of Venice. All of the students from the American College in Rome attended the double consecration. After the ceremonies Cardinal Satoli entertained at dinner. Among the principal guests were Bishops Hendrick and Cavallari, Archbishop Hart and Monsignors Kennedy and Fowler.

Archbishop Hart will leave Havre for New York today and will remain a short time in this country before sailing for Manila. Bishop Hendrick has received his final instructions regarding his new diocese from the Papal Secretary of State. He will have a private audience with Pope Pius X. and will then leave for Ireland, where he will try to secure Irish priests and nuns for his diocese.
